

Sodality Sponsors Mixer And Dance Tomorrow Night

The Sodality of the Immaculate Conception of Loyola College will sponsor a Square Dance tomorrow night from 8:30 to 12:30 in the Student Union Building. Frank Hart will be the caller, and admission is $1 per couple or person.

Group Discussion

Last Sunday, February 18, a group of sodality members representing Notre Dame, Mt. Saint Agnes, and Loyola met at Evergreen. The purpose of this meeting was to discover the various difficulties each Sodality has encountered in the fields of recruitment, apostolate, and spiritual life. Solutions to these problems were sought through group discussion.

Both Mt. Saint Agnes and Notre Dame regard Loyola's Sodality as the "guiding light" and look to it for leadership. Mindful of the fact that in unity there is strength, Carl Cuneo, the Prefect of our Sodality, hopes that a union will be established among these three college sodalities in the near future.

Inexpensive Date

Carl Cuneo and Father Cavanaugh, Sodality moderator, point out that these mixers were instituted by the Sodality so as to offer Loyola students an inexpensive date for Saturday nights. They hope that the student body will respond by giving its full support.

Mothers To Sponsor Party

"IMPROMPTU": Above (l. to r.) are Nancy Monroe, Carol McKewen, Ron Yakaitis, and Dave Crocco in four equally strong roles of Tad Mosel's "Impromptu". This play was selected last Friday evening as Loyola College's entry in the Jesuit One-Act Play Contest which will be held on Saturday, February 28, at Georgetown University. Loyola's play will compete with entries from Wheeling College, University of Scranton, St. Joseph's College, and Georgetown University.

Proceeds Expected To Help Finance Glee Club Trips

The Loyola College Glee Club will sponsor a party on Friday, March 2, in the Student Union Building at 8:30 p.m. This party is being held to raise funds for the Glee Club.

The club is scheduled to give performances in Baltimore this spring. But they will also give concerts out of state in New York, Washington, D.C., and Philadelphia. Traveling expenses for the club, with its increased membership, would be only partly covered by their expense account. The deficit will be made up by the proceeds from the entertainment.

Working Mothers

The mothers of the members of the Glee Club are working as a Mothers' Club to prepare the cafeteria and provide the refreshments. Mrs. Hobbs, the mother of Wayne Hobbs, a senior and president of the club, is chairman of the Mothers' club. The mother of John Kogler, a junior, is the co-chairman. The members and their mothers will work at the various stands around the cafeteria and student lounge.

The entertainment will be the same type as the entertainment offered at a similar party two years ago. This last party was a great success and provided the Glee Club with funds to purchase their green jackets. This year the Club has purchased new ties and trousers. Students are asked to encourage their parents to support the school's Glee Club at this party.

Improvement

Under their new moderator, Fr. Smardon, and director, Miss Reincke, Loyola's Glee Club has greatly improved during the past year and has been requested for more engagements. These additional engagements make it necessary for the Club to travel more extensively than they have previously.

Building Fund Program To Achieve Fourth Goal

Since the trustees of Loyola College announced a long range development program in 1955, three major objectives have been achieved with the help of business and industry and private contributions. There was the purchase of Millbrook House for faculty and alumni offices. This was followed by an increase in faculty salaries over five years, up to 52%. The Andrew White Center was opened in 1961, with adequate dining accommodations and modern lounge facilities.

Last Goal

Now is 1962 a fourth goal will soon be realized. Development committees and contributors will share in a sense of excellent accomplishment with the opening of the Physics Engineering Building scheduled for this summer. This new five story structure with its 17 classrooms and 9 laboratories will have air conditioning and elevator service and will provide for an increase of 250 students.

The Downtown Committee on Development, with the continuing support of the Knights of Columbus and parents of the student body, hope to have the remaining $40,000 needed for the new edifice by the time its doors open this summer.

Spot News

Evergreen Annual

Beginning on Monday, Feb. 26, the Evergreen Annual will offer subscriptions to its 1962 edition to underclassmen. For the first week, the offer that was given to freshmen at the beginning of the year will be repeated for all the underclassmen. The price will be reduced to $6 instead of the usual $7.

Seniors have given full support to the staff in recognition of the prospect of an excellent publication. A display will be provided in the lobby of the Student Center showing some of the work that has been done thus far. There will also be a stand in the cafeteria during class hours to accept subscriptions. A minimum deposit of $1 will be required to purchase the book at this reduced rate.

Frosh Twist

The Freshman Class will hold a party at RCIA Hall. The music for the occasion will be provided by the "The Omegas." Tickets which are $2.50 per couple can be obtained from the class officers, during most lunch periods and after school, in the cafeteria.

Editorial

Coffee And Conversation

During the past few weeks the Student Council Executive Committee has been doing much undercover work on a subject which had heretofore not been brought to the attention of the student body, but which we feel is important enough to bring before them at this time. The idea, with which the Committee has been toying, is one which calls for the establishment of a program to upgrade the intellectual life on campus by urging faculty members to lunch and engage in informal conversation with the students in the cafeteria once or several times a week.

Why has the Council Executive Committee been sitting on this legislation, and why hasn't it been brought to the attention of the Council members themselves? Can it be that the Committee has not yet formulated a plan under which this new idea could be effected, or can it be that they are tremulous as the reception of this idea by the student body and the faculty members?

If the Executives have withheld news of their plan because they can think of no way to fulfill their purpose, then we bid them to hold their peace no longer. Surely they must realize that it would be better to obtain the suggestions of as many people as possible, as the issue at hand pertains to every student and faculty member at the college. If, however, these Committee members are fearful that the students and faculty members of Loyola will not appreciate their plan, then may we reassure them that this will not be the case because of the following reasons:

First, we feel that the faculty members of Loyola are very dedicated individuals and, as such, that they are extremely concerned with the welfare of Loyola's students and will do anything that is within their power to foster a stronger student-teacher relationship.

Second, we feel that the faculty members, as scholars, will be interested in hearing the views that their students have to offer as regards academic affairs and in offering views of their own on a less formal basis.

Third, we feel that the students of Loyola College would welcome the intellectual stimulation that their conversations with faculty members would probably excite.

These, Gentlemen of the Executive Committee, are our answers to two of the difficulties with which you may have been concerned. However, we may yet foresee a third difficulty in your wake, namely, how can the Student Council of itself hope to enact legislation which might call for student-faculty cooperation?

The answer to this question is obviously that, of itself, it cannot. And perhaps this explains the tardiness of your group. The Council could pass a resolution inviting faculty members to dine in the Student Cafeteria, but such an action would do little more than enrage the faculty, who never before needed, nor ever will need, an invitation to dine in the main cafeteria.

The real solution to the problem lies not in urging the faculty to forsake the privacy of their lounge, nor in passing legislation, but in a concerted effort on the part of the students individually to welcome and invite the faculty to dine with them. There is little doubt that, given the opportunity, the faculty will be ready and willing to cooperate.

Therefore, the Greyhound, speaking in its capacity as the voice of the exemplary Loyola student, hereby requests the prompt consideration of such action, not by the Student Council, but by the Student Body and petitions the students to offer all due consideration to what we feel is an important issue.

The Greyhound Salutes

Dick Moore

This week The Greyhound salutes Dick Moore, senior class president. Dick is a graduate of Loyola High School, where he was affectionately known as "Hertz." Here at Loyola College generous sacrifice and effort have characterized his career.

Dick's driving interest is in government and service. After graduating with an A. B. Modern Language degree in Political Science, he hopes to attend the University of Maryland Evening Law School.

I. R. C.

Quiet, affable Dick has been the mainstay of the International Relations Club for three years. In his sophomore and junior years he was the president of the I. R. C. Through this organization Dick has tirelessly served Loyola, increasing her stature among the member colleges on the regional and national level.

May Speaker

Dick has always been active on campus, performing tasks with an unaltered attitude of generosity. He is one of the May Devotion Speakers. His speech last year on "Mary, Spiritual Vessel" was truly inspirational. This speech and his work on various student council committees are a few of the many unheralded services he performs for the College.

This is Dick's "Year of Responsibility." He was married to the former Nancy Lawrence in July. Married life has not interfered with his campus life. On the contrary, it seems to have helped him in his most difficult task, that of senior class president. Thus far, he has managed to coordinate the efforts of his class very well. His yearbook staff is progressing; and his class' grand finale, Senior Week, promises to be a great success. Need we praise the Prohibition Daze? Dick has been recognized for his service to the school and his class; this year he was mentioned in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. To this tribute the Greyhound adds its thanks and praise.

When he was just a little guy, his father used to say: "That Boy's gonna grow up and be president some day." Well, Dick grew up.

Letter to the Editor

The class of 1962 has begun its final semester at Loyola College, and preparations have been undergone toward the completion of the last two extracurricular products of that class--the 1962 Evergreen Annual and Senior Week activities. The successful completion of both tasks requires a considerable outlay of funds, and the officers of the class and the editors of the Annual are now collecting fees from the class members. The whole procedure has raised an interesting question as to the apt function of the class leaders. It has always been my notion that class presidents and yearbook editors, upon election, incur a responsibility to the class entailing a good deal of work, for which the honor of holding the offices constitutes their reward. I had not realized that such leaders were "doing the class a favor" by holding the offices, as has been indicated by several incidents in the White Student Center. There I heard the editor of the Annual hurl scathing maledictions upon one senior who had failed to remit his yearbook fee and there I have likewise seen looks of reproach, not to speak of purposeful avoidance, directed at "unpaid up" class members by their elected leader. Advice to these distraught class dignitaries comes from the Nicomachean Ethics, where Aristotle exhibits the ideal in acting, both in situations of honor and in situations of dishonor.

The Critic's Corner

On last Friday evening in Cohn Auditorium, Director John Synodinos presented three one act plays before a rather small but greatly appreciative audience. The three plays: "Impromptu," by Mosel; "Village Wooing," by Shaw; and "Aria da Capo," by Millay, were generally well acted and directed, a fact which can be greatly appreciated due to the difficulty which directing three distinct plays simultaneously can present.

Mosel Masterful

The first offering of last Friday evening was a play called "Impromptu" by Tad Mosel. This play, done in the modern dramatic tradition by Mr. Synodinos, featured very fine performances by Messrs. Ron Yakaitas and David Croccowith Carol McKewen and Nancy Monroe giving female assists.

In essence the plot deals with four actors who are left on stage to improvise a play which, in the words of one of the characters is "... not to be an imitation of life but to be life itself."

Slawski-Goode

The second entry of the evening was a light comedy by Shaw entitled appropriately enough, the "Village Wooing." The play, sparkling throughout with subtle jibes and witty repartee, concerned the attempts of a simple-minded British shop-girl to ensnare a sharp-tongued, literate widower in the net of matrimony.

In their respective roles, Carole Goode and Ed Slawski combined the subtle refinement which was needed to enrich the appreciation of this piece de theatre and make it truly memorable. From where we sat, it was quite evident that their reception of two Loyola acting awards last year was no fluke.

Miss Millay-neous

"Aria da Capo," the last of the three one-acts, was like "Impromptu" a play which concerned the relation of the dramatic medium to reality. Starring in the piece were Carroll Schempp, Frank Moritz, Martha Monius, Rich Lawrence and Pat Casey. In his first appearance on the Evergreen stage, Mr. Schempp gave a surprisingly good performance as one of the play's two ill-fated thespians.

Willie The Fan Sets Bus Trip For Tournament

Willy "The Fan" Hoffman is planning a bus trip to Mount Saint Mary's College for next Thursday, March 1. At this time our HUSTLIN' HOUNDS will play the first round of the Mason-Dixon Tournament. This trip will cost $1.50 per person, and the bus will leave from and return to Evergreen. For further information contact the Athletic Office or Willy no later than next Tuesday.

At least one bus full of fans should invade "the hills" to cheer THE TEAM on to victory. If the team wins on Thursday, there will be a trip on Friday.

The Watchdog

Sal Glorioso and his boys are all fumed up about the "hose job" given them by "Bear" Bogusky in the Basketball Intramurals last week. The "Bear" better stick close to his den or he is liable to be rubbed out.

Next year instead of having three One-Act plays on the same night, they will have one each night for three nights, since it was discovered that when all were presented on the same night, there were more people on stage than in the audience.

For the next I.R.C. meeting, Jorge Ordenez is going to give a speech on Cuba entitled "Panama."

Alladin Lancelotta suggests this motto for the Sophomore Class Party last Saturday night: "Have lamps, must travel."

We just heard that Marty Pilsch is Loyola's representative to Muscle Beach this year.

GREYHOUND SPORTS

by Tom Kenney

In the near future, the Greyhound will bring out a special issue which will preview the Mason-Dixon basketball, swimming, and wrestling tournaments. There is no other school in the conference comparable to Loyola in size and academic standing which has three winter sport teams as good as the Hound Trio. A.U. might be close to the Hounds as far as team quality goes, but A.U. has twice as many students as Loyola. Mt. St. Mary's might have a basketball team but have they heard of wrestling and swimming at Emmitsburg? To get back to the Hound squads, our cagers are having a great season. They have clinched 2nd spot in the northern standings with a 9-3 record. Loyola must be rated as a power in the Tournament to be held at Emmitsburg, March 1, 2, and 3. The Hound swimmers, defending conference champs, have suffered only one M-D dual meet loss. That was a 48-47 squeaker to A.U., the chief Loyola rival for the title to be contested at Gallaudet, March 2 and 3. The Hound matmen are in first place in the dual meet standings. They too must be rated as a power to reckon with in the Tourney at Hopkins on March 2 and 3.

Intramurals

The Foul Beagels took over sole possession of first place in the intramural basketball league last week as they registered their second win in a game against the 1.5's. Marshall threw in 24 and Kennedy 14 in the Foul Baegels' 43 to 25 victory. In other games, the Penguins, led by the accurate shooting of Griffin and Jenkins, beat the Thumpers 47 to 17. Gomsak scored 22 and Stewart 10 for the Mavericks in their 50 to 27 victory over the Flips. All seven of the Huggers' players scored and Byrnes hit for double figures as they edged the Anton and Glorioso led Fingers 36 to 30 in overtime.

Bowling

Willie's Nemesis and the Hi Fi's continued to share first place in the intramural bowling league as the second round neared its half way point, as each registered 2 victories in last week's competition. The Foul Line 5 and the Sharks respectively were defeated by the front runners. The Boozers won 3 games from the Hustlers, and Sam & Friends 2 from the Woodchuckers to tie the second place. In the final set, Willie's Winners, the first round winners, beat the O'Henry's 2 games to 1. Ron Pieper of Willie's Nemesis registered the high set of the day, 363, and the high game, 143. The bowling competition is shaping up as a real tight race.

Charley Carey

Cagers Beat Bluejays; Downed By American U.

The Greyhound cagers celebrated St. Valentine's Day by soundly trouncing the Blue Jays of John Hopkins University by a score of 80-58. It was the second time this season and the 18th time since 1953 that the Jays have met defeat at the hands of Loyola. All thirteen Hounds saw action with twelve hitting the scoring column. Double figures were registered by Charlie O'Donnell (15 pts.) and Alex Cummings who had 5 field goals in as many attempts for 10 pts.

Hounds Row to A.U.

The Eagles of American University avenged an earlier defeat and edged Loyola 80-70 on Saturday night at A.U. Led by the "Young Philadelphians," Pat Flynn (19 pts.) and Marty Maher (18 pts.), Loyola held an 8 point lead early in the second half. But the bigger, older, and at times, unsportsmanlike Eagles pushed their way to a 59-57 lead with 9 minutes on the clock and never lost it. The untimely exit of Capt. Tony Torba and hustling Charlie O'Donnell on fouls, and the injured leg of jumper Don Wallenhorst proved costly to the Hounds.

With only Washington College remaining on the schedule, the Hounds are virtually assured of 2nd place in the Northern division of the Mason-Dixon Conference. In all probability they will face Catholic University in the opening round of the M-D Tournament on March 1st at Mt. St. Mary's in Emmitsburg.

"Cinderella Team" or "Team of Desire," call them what you will. But one thing is certain. This is a good team. A team that hates to lose, one that thrives on victory. They deserve every bit of support we can give them. See you at Emmitsburg.

Tourney Lineups

The Mason-Dixon winter sports schedule will wind up on the first weekend in March. The three tournaments, in which Loyola will participate, are scheduled as follows:

Basketball

EVENT: Mason-Dixon Championships

PLACE: Mt. St. Mary's

DATE: March 1, 2, and 3.

wrestling

EVENT: Mason-Dixon Championships

PLACE: Johns Hopkins University

DATE: March 2 and 3.

Swimming

EVENT: Mason-Dixon Championships

PLACE: Gallaudet University

DATE: March 2 and 3.

Grapplers Defeat A. U.; Move Into First Place

Last Saturday afternoon, the Hound matmen overcame a big obstacle on their way to the Mason-Dixon Conference dual meet title by downing the always tough American University Eagles by a 26-11 count. The victory shoved the Hounds past A.U. and into first place in the standings with a 4-1 record. The loss was the Eagles' first; they are now 4-1-1. Even if the Hounds do win the dual meet crown, they will not be Conference Champs unless they can win the Mason-Dixon Tournament to be held at Hopkins on March 2 and 3. A tourney triumph would be a very big order for the young Loyola team and their equally young rookie coach, Charley Carey. However, the Hound matmen have been pulling surprises all season long and they could be saving their biggest one for the Tournament.

In the A.U. bout, the score was knotted at 11 all after the first six matches. Then Loyola's Tommy Milligan, Colin Delpi and Charley Graham turned in consecutive pins to wrap up the win for the Hounds by the 26-11 margin.

Here is the match by match summary of the A.U. contest:

123 pound class--Baker, Loyola, decisioned Lucas, 8-0.
130 pound class--Makarov, A.U., decisioned McCarthy, 7-1.
137 pound class--Schlipp, Loyola, decisioned Margolian, 7-2.
147 pound class--Emmett, Loyola, pinned McCuen, 6:24.
157 pound class--Pine, A.U., decisioned Buchness, 4-2.
167 pound class--Maier, A.U., decisioned Kodneski, 4:20.
177 pound class--Milligan, Loyola, pinned Lynch, 2:57.
191 pound class--Delpi, Loyola, pinned Clark, 6:00.
Unlimited class--Graham, Loyola, pinned Mehlman, 5:31.

Shooters' Club Seeks Members

One activity which is gaining popularity on campus is the R.O.T.C. sponsored Rifle Club. The Club has shown a large increase in active membership since the opening of the Student Union Building which houses the rifle range on its basement level.

The Club presently has 65 members. Membership is open to all who are enrolled in the R.O.T.C. course. A membership fee of $1.00 entitles an individual to all the privileges of the Club.

Club members are taught the proper technique of firing the .22 calibre rifle as well as the rules of safety when firing. The top 10 shooters in the Club from the Rifle Team which fires against other College rifle teams.

Learning to shoot can be both worthwhile and enjoyable. Anyone who is interested in joining the Rifle Club can pick up an application at the rifle range. The Club moderator is Capt. Frydendahl, coach Sgt. Foley, and Captain is Dennis Homberg. Come in and sign up now--the welcome mat is out.

Hound Swimmers Drop Squeaker To American U.

Last Saturday the Hound mermen met their first M-D conference defeat in their heartbreaking loss to American University, 48-47. In a head to head battle whose outcome eventually depended upon the final event, the freestyle relay, the losing Hounds were led by two double winners, Ken Freimuth and Marty Pilsch.

Kenny captured his customary first places in the 200-yard individual medley and the 200-yard breaststroke. In addition to this sterling performance, he also swam the second leg in the lead-off 400-yard medley relay for an 11.75 point total.

Marty Pilsch tallied his wins in the 200-yard butterfly and 440-yard freestyle events. Marty also turned in a third place performance in the 200-yard individual medley behind teammate Freimuth.

Sprinter Al Kubelius was a little off his usual pace as he failed to take a first place. However, Al did account for a pair of seconds in the 220 and 440-yard freestyle events. Vic Corbin, enroute to another classy performance in his speciality, added one more to his skein in the diving competition. Tippy Cronin contributed to the Loyola cause with a second place in the 200-yard butterfly behind Pilsch, and also with a good third leg in the medley relay.

The Loyola natators also turned in 5 third places in the losing effort--Tom Jeffers in 220 freestyle, Charlie Brooks in the 50 yard freestyle, Skip Seward in the diving, Phil Young in the 100-yard freestyle and Joe Doyle in the 200-yard backstroke.

The Hounds will meet Catholic U. tomorrow in the Loyola pool at 3 P.M. in their last dual meet before the M-D Tournament next week.
